The Meriden Journal says:

Dr. A. W. Tracy is making a tour of the public schools in accordance with a promise he made to the citizens some months ago at a town meeting when medical inspection for the pupils was considered. Dr. Tracy hopes to make a report to the annual town meeting in October, and there is no need to say his statements will be interesting.

The physician has visited practically all the schools except the East and West grammar and the High, which he will probably not take up. He has yet to go through the South Broad and West Main street schools. Dr. Tracy has found no conditions that would warrant school physicians and ald warrant school physicians and nurses.

At the North Colony street school he visited the room where, according to the doctor, it was published "forty-two children had sixty-seven kinds of diseases." Dr. Tracy will inform the citizens of this case from his investigation. The tour is being made at this time by Dr. Tracy in order to learn how many pupils fall back from their classes and if lack of medical attention is the cause.

BANQUET TO THE VESTED CHOIR

Given by the Philathea of the Methodist Church, a Delightful Evening Being Spent.

A very pretty affair took place in the parlors and dining room of the Trinity Methodist church Wednesday evening. The occasion was a banquet given by the ladies Philathea Sunday; school class to the thirty-two young ladies of the vested choir. The table decorations were roses and ferns, and each guest wore a rose. An interesting feature was the place cards, which were concealed in envelopes, and not to be opened until all were seated. The cards were after the order of a valentine—most of them decidedly laughable having been previously drawn, painted or otherwise prepared by one and the able having been previously drawn, painted or otherwise prepared by one another and commemorative of some lessides those identified with the choir, thirty-five in all, there were three other invited guests, the pastor of the church, the superintendent of the Sunday school, and Mrs. John C. Morgan, who at one time tided the vested choir over a very critical juncture. In the adjustment of place cards it devolved upon Dr. Kaufman to provide for Superintendent Costello Lippitt and Mrs. Morgan, which he did by having at their plates a likeness of himself with his touring Bible on the site of ancient Dan, in Palestine.

The vested choir young ladies present were the Misses Marion B. Wolcott.

XENS ARE PLANNING HOT WEATHER KEEPS DOWN THE PRACTICE PICNIC IN JULY. Society Held Meeting at Church and Crews Do Much Paddling Though Engoted Much Business. Harvard Four Had Race in Evening.

The Xens society held their regular meeting Wednesday evening in the parlors of the First Baptist church. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Herbert Willey, and a business meeting full of interest was held. The regular business was disposed of, several reports being approved. Several questions for the good of the society were discussed. The question of the annual picnic was brought up and it was partially decided to have With smooth water and a very slight With smooth water and a very slight favoring tide, the Harvard varsity fours raced upstream Wednesday night from the navy yard to a point opposite the freshmen crew quarters.
